The lyddite shell which the British are using against the Boers, and against which General Joubert protests as "inhuman," is fearful. It is said that falling in a compact body it will kill 300 men, while the odor of it will kill birds and animals.

The Richmond Times remarks that "the Philippine question is a question of business." It is also a question of right or wrong, and this should not be subordinated to the question of "business." There is something more in this question than "will it pay?"

There is a 40,000 acre peat bog in Canada, in which the owners expect to have a bonanza. The peat is 20 feet thick. It is being dug, dried, ground and compressed into blocks as hard as anthracite, and makes a hot fire without smoke, dust or clinkers.

It is said that for months fellows have been going through Western States, buying up all the broom corn in sight and now have it in a close corner. This is a sweeping assertion, but the way broom corn has been going up seems to support it. They bought all in sight at from $70 to $110 a ton, and have run it up to $140 to $160 a ton.

MR. GEORGE HARRISS DIED YESTERDAY.

End of a Long, Useful and Honorable Career—Prominent in Commercial Circles Over a Half Century.

There passed away yesterday morning one of Wilmington's most prominent citizens, Mr. George Harriss, who died at 5.30 A. M., at his residence 515 Princess street. His death ends a long and active business career and there goes out from our midst a man who ever had the confidence and universal esteem of all who knew him.

Mr. Harriss was engaged in business up to three weeks ago, but for the past year his health has been such that he was not able to give active attention to his duties. He steadily declined during the last twelve months, and three months ago it was realized by his relatives and friends that he would soon pass away. For about three weeks he had been confined to his room and the spark of life gradually went out, being sustained by a remarkable vitality despite his weight of years.

The deceased was a native of Wilmington and was the son of the late Dr. William James Harriss and Mrs. Mary P. Harriss, both of whom died many years ago. He was born July 27, 1827, in the building on Market street where the jewelry store of Dingelhoef Bros. now is. His father was also a native of Wilmington and was a very prominent and influential citizen in his day.

The subject of this sketch was educated at Donaldson academy, Fayetteville, and when he finished school he returned to Wilmington and began life as a clerk for the late Mr. R. W. Brown, who previous to the civil war did a large wholesale grocery, commission and naval stores business on Water street, where now stands the west end of the market house. He also received additional training as a clerk from the late Mr. George W. Davis, who did a large business as a ship-broker and commission merchant. It was in the latter establishment that Mr. Harriss was started on a business career that made him the largest, the oldest, and, in early life, the most successful shipbroker in the United States. In 1847 he entered into co-partnership with the late Mr. Henry P. Russell and did a large and successful ship brokerage and commission business under the firm name of Harriss & Russell. Mr. Russell removed to Charleston and he continued the business as George Harriss, subsequently organizing the firm of Harriss & Howell, the members of the firm being himself, Mr. A. J. Howell and Dr. W. W. Harriss. When the latter firm dissolved, his son, ex-Mayor W. N. Harriss, was admitted as a partner, and for the past ten or twelve years and up to the time of his death the business has been carried on under the firm name of George Harriss, Son & Co.

Mr. Harriss for many years has been more prominently identified with the shipping and commercial interests of Wilmington than any person in the history of the city. Before the war he did an immense business, being agent for the packet lines between Wilmington and New York and Wilmington and Philadelphia, and besides was a broker for a large number of vessels engaged in the coasting and foreign trade. When Wilmington was the first naval stores port in the world, the ships he represented carried valuable cargoes to foreign ports, and he also did a tremendous business in the shipment of cotton and produce of all kinds, handling the large business which came down from Fayetteville and hundreds of miles beyond. Being so thoroughly identified with the shipping interests, he has been a life member of the Seamen's Friend Society, in which he took great interest. He was president of the society many years, and was a liberal contributor to the support of the Seamen's Bethel, always attending the services there when his health was good. He was zealous in behalf of the welfare of seafaring men of all classes, and was truly the sailor's friend.

Previous to the civil war, Mr. Harriss was a director of the Commercial Bank of this city, and for many years was also a director of the Wilmington & Weldon railroad, being a prominent stockholder of that road. During the civil war, in 1862, he was aide to Governor Joe Brown, of Georgia, being his State agent and directing at this port the Georgia shipments of cotton through the blockade and distributing supplies for the volunteers of that State in the Confederate Army. While on Governor Brown's staff he had the rank of colonel.

Mr. Harriss was one of the charter members of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce and was active throughout his life in promoting the commercial interests of the city. For forty years he was a member of that body, and for many years and up to the time of his death was chairman of the executive council. He and Mr. James H. Chadbourn were the only resident survivors of the charter members, and now that he is gone Mr. Chadbourn is the only one of about seventy-five members named in the charter now living here. Most of them have "passed over the river," and only a few live, in other cities.

For years past and up to his death he was a member of the board of commissioners of navigation and pilotage of the port of Wilmington. Yesterday and to-day the flags of all vessels in the harbor are at half-mast in memoriam of him.

Mr. Harriss during most of his life was a member of the Produce Exchange, and for a number of years was president of that body. Since 1876 and up to his death he was consul here for the Argentine Republic.

Since about 1850, the deceased has been a Mason, being a member of Wilmington Lodge and of Concord Chapter, and an honorary member of Plantagenet Commandery, Knights Templar. For years he has been a baptized member of the First Presbyterian Church and was liberal in his contributions for all church and charitable purposes. The bell of the first church was presented by him and bears his name upon its rim in raised letters. It was always pleasant for him to hear its tones regularly summoning God's people to worship each Sunday, and it is a singular coincidence that it will toll for the funeral of its giver to day.

Few men have been so prominent in a city's affairs as Mr. Harriss, and during the 72 years of his life he has borne a most exalted character for honor and integrity. He was dignified, courteous and affable in his manner, and yesterday Mr. James H. Chadbourn, who has known him for 52 years, said he was a man of the firmest courage, generous to a fault and always pleasant in his business transactions. In his social life he was urbane and was the embodiment of the typical Southern gentleman. The nature of his business was such that newspaper reporters had to call on him every day for shipping reports, and they can testify to his extreme cordiality and obliging disposition at all times.

Mr. Harriss was married in 1861 to Miss Julia O. Sanders, daughter of the late Mr. John A. Sanders, a prominent citizen who resided near this city. They lost several children, and a few years ago his beloved wife departed this life, leaving him bowed in sorrow from which he never recovered. Their surviving children are six sons and one daughter—Messrs. John S. Harriss, George Harriss, ex-Mayor W. N. Harriss, Dr. Andrew H. Harriss, and Messrs. Bellamy and Robert N. Harriss, and Miss Ruth Harriss, all of Wilmington. He leaves four sisters and a brother—Mrs Dr. J. D. Bellamy, Mrs. A. J. Howell, of this city, Mrs. W. S. Norment, of Lumberton, and Miss Mary Harriss, and Dr. W. W. Harriss, who reside here. The bereaved family has the sincere condolence of a large circle of friends and acquaintances here and elsewhere.

Action by the Seamen's Friend Society.

A meeting of the board of trustees of the Seamen's Friend Society of Wilmington was called by the president of the society, Mr. James Sprunt, at half past twelve yesterday to consider suitable resolutions of respect to the memory of Mr Harriss, who was for many years the presiding officer of that society.

There were present Mr. James Sprunt, president; Col. Roger Moore, vice president; Col W. J. Woodward, secretary and treasurer; the Rev. Dr. Robert Strange, Capt. J. I. Metts, Mr. R W. Hicks, Rev. A. D. McClure, Mr. T. E Sprunt, Mr. James McDougal, Rev. Milton A. Barber, and Mr. N. Jacobi.

The president stated the object of the meeting and remarked that Mr. Harriss was elected a trustee of the society at its 23rd annual meeting, February 8th, 1876, and at this meeting was made one of the executive committee. He was elected vice president at the 24th annual meeting held February 24th, 1877, and served in this capacity until the 37th annual meeting held February 4th, 1890, when he was elected president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the lamented Mr. George R. French, president, who died on March the 15th, 1889; and that Mr. Harriss served as president until the 45th annual meeting held February 1st, 1898, and as trustee up to the time of his death.

Upon motion, a committee, consisting of Vice President Roger Moore, Secretary W. J. Woodward and Captain J. I. Metts, was appointed to prepare suitable resolutions, which were presented and unanimously adopted, as follows:

WHEREAS, God in His wisdom has removed by death from our midst George Harriss, a member of our Board of Trustees and one of the oldest shipping merchants in our community, who has served continuously since 1876, and who served from 1877 to 1898 as one of the executive committee, vice president and president; therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of George Harriss this society has been bereft of one of its oldest members, who was a firm friend and a good counsellor.

Resolved, That while we recognize the hand of God in this bereavement, we deeply deplore his death and mourn the loss of one who had been an active co laborer in our work.

Resolved, That a page in the records of the society be set apart to his memory and a copy of these resolutions be entered thereon.

Resolved, That the sympathy of this Board be tendered to his bereaved family and that the secretary send to them a copy of these resolutions and also to the city papers with request to publish.

Remarks eulogistic of the deceased were made and on adoption of the above resolutions the meeting adjourned.

Funeral This Morning.

The funeral of Mr. Harriss will take place at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the First Presbyterian Church.

By order of Mr. M. W. Jacobi, vice president, acting in the absence of Mr. W. E. Worth, the president, the members of the Chamber of Commerce will leave its room, No. 225 North Front street, at 9:45 A. M., to attend the funeral in a body as a mark of respect to Mr. Harriss as a member of long standing and usefulness in that body.

Sixty-fourth Annual Meeting.

Mr. James F. Post, Secretary of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad Company, gives notice that the sixty-fourth annual meeting of the stockholders of that company will be held at the office of the company, in this city, on Wednesday, November 22nd, at 12 M.

— Capt. J. J. Adkins, of Southport, came up to the city last evening.

THE SCHOONER GOLD LEAF.

Captain Williamson Tells An Interesting Story of His Adventure With the Storm Last Week.

Capt. W. J Williamson, of the schooner Gold Leaf, which went ashore at Tubbs, Brunswick county, during the recent storm, was in the city yesterday and tells a most interesting story of his extraordinary experiences with wind and wave on this occasion.

Capt. Williamson with his mate, young James Sommersett, and two colored seamen, were bound on board the Gold Leaf from Tubbs to Wilmington with naval stores and produce and encountered the storm off Fort Caswell on Monday afternoon. They attempted to put in at Southport for shelter during the storm but the outgoing tide and high winds prevented such a movement and at 3 o'clock they were forced to anchor off Caswell.

At 8 o'clock Monday night the storm became so terrific that the cables of the sturdy little craft were parted with a snap and the schooner went adrift, moving at great speed south by south west straight out to sea. Capt Williamson at once recognized the peril of his situation and set about to make the best of it circumstances would allow. The deck load was quickly dumped overboard and with great effort on account of the surging sea the masts were cut away by the captain's own hand, after which the crew shut themselves in the cabin and nailed the hatches down, the vessel all the while drifting far out to sea. The aft hatch was once torn away and the little schooner began to quickly fill with water The crew alternately came from the cabin and by holding on to the mast stumps, managed to keep her pumped out until an mprovised hatch could be placed in position.

At 2 o'clock Tuesday morning when the little schooner was seventy-five miles out to sea, according to the reckoning of Capt. Williamson, the wind shifted to the south, and they began to drift in. At daylight Tuesday morning, when five miles from shore, Capt. Williamson sighted land and steered for the shore, where a little later the vessel and all on board were thrown high and dry only two miles from Capt. Williamson's home and about twenty-five miles from where the schooner went adrift.

It was a narrow escape from death beneath the waves, and the fine seamanship of the captain, who is only twenty-three years of age, has won for him an enviable position in the eyes of seafarers.

NOTABLE ENGAGEMENT NEXT WEEK.

Dan Packard Company in Repertoire of Popular Comic and Grand Operas.

The cast of the Dan Packard Opera Company, which appears at the Opera House next week, in a repertoire of popular comic and grand operas, is in voice the most perfect ever seen in a similar organization, that is one playing at moderate prices.

At the head of it is Gilbert Clayton, a familiar singer and comedian, with the Bostonians and other companies for several seasons, and Miss Carlotta Gilman, a soprano, whose finely trained voice and admirable acting of leading roles have made her a favorite with all audiences.

Warwick Ganor, handsome in appearance and possessing a splendid baritone voice, is another prominent stellar member of the cast. Monte Walker undertakes the second comedian roles, and does them with great honor. Charles N. Holmes in the tenor parts has the enviable reputation of being the best dramatic tenor upon the comic opera stage. Miss Josephine Kirkwood is heard as the contralto and Jessie Hylands, Charles Stout, Frank Emmerson and others in the minor roles.

Seats will be on sale to-morrow morning at Gerken's.

The Busy Bee Hive.

The increasing trade at the Bee Hive on South Front street, Mr. W. H. Gaylord proprietor, resulting from the plain business methods and extraordinary bargains characteristic of this store, has necessitated the opening of an exclusive clothing department in the old Canady stand No. 115 South Front street, two doors from the main salesrooms of the Bee Hive. A reporter was kindly shown over the new department yesterday by Mr. Gaylord and the large and daily increasing stock of men's and boys clothing at the prices named will indeed be astonishing to the seeker for bargains in this line. In the main store the same conditions exists. Six hundred dollars worth of drummer's millinery samples have just been received and the people are flocking there to secure the wonderful bargains The goods are first class and were bought way under value. They are being sold correspondingly and Mr. Gaylord invites an inspection by the ladies of the city.

Gone to Missouri.

Assistant Postmaster T. E. Wallace left last evening for Kansas City, Mo., where he goes to attend the United States District Court as a witness in the case of the Government against a Klondike Investment Company, a fraudulent concern which claimed to have been chartered under the laws of North Carolina, with headquarters at Wilmington. Mr. Wallace will be expected to testify as to whether such a concern was a patron of the post-office here. A number of the State officers have gone from Raleigh to testify that no such concern was chartered in this State.

BOARD HOSPITAL MANAGERS.

Met in Regular Monthly Session Yesterday Afternoon—Principally Routine Matters Were Discussed.

Only routine matters and those of minor moment were considered by the Board of Managers of the City Hospital, at its regular meeting for the month, which was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Those present were Col. Roger Moore, (chairman), Commissioner Holmes, Aldermen Springer and Spencer and Capt. W. P. Oldham, the clerk.

Col. Moore in whom was vested the authority to dispose of an old outhouse which was partly burned on the grounds of the Hospital, reported having sold the same for $10. He also reported having received bids for painting and repairing the roof of the hospital building, the lowest being 35 cents per square.

In making his monthly statement to the board, Dr. C. P. Bolles, the superintendent, was requested to give names of all patients entered and duration of treatment, in order that the members may have a more direct insight into the affairs of the institution.

The monthly report of Dr. Bolles, which was submitted and approved shows the following statistics:

Patients treated, 28; city patients, 17; county, 1; pay, 10; patients remaining in hospital September 30th, 13; admitted during October, 15. Patients discharged during the month, 20; died, 2; remaining October 31st, 6. Pay patients treated 104 days; charity patients, 186 days; total days treatment furnished, 290. Rations furnished pay patients, 104; charity patients, 186; employes, 399; total, 689. Average cost per capita per day, 15 cents. Receipts were reported as follows: Cash from county, $250; from city, $166.66; prescriptions, $19 35; pay patients, $180.65. Total, $616 66. Receipts over expenditures, $104.87.

THE MASONIC FAIR.

Evidences of Assured Success As Date of Opening Approaches—Donations.

There is no relaxation of effort on the part of Col. Martin to make the big Masonic Fair, which opens on the 20th, an affair of State importance, and right well is he being sustained in the laudable enterprise by enthusiastic Masons and their friends everywhere.

Yesterday afternoon, at The Orton, there were two well attended meetings of committees from Wilmington and St. John's Lodges, and their reports to the manager were of the accomplishment of very satisfactory progress, betokening a large measure of success from a financial view point.

Donations are acknowledged by Col. Martin as follows:

Frank Burns, cash, $5.00; Goody & Kent, one can of candy; Sneed & Carrington Tobacco Co., smoking tobacco, thourgh West & Co.; Johnson Publishing Company, thirteen books, through W. L. DeRosset, Jr.; J. Weill, two vases; B. F. Mitchell Co., two bushels peanuts; Anderson & Jones, New York, valuable silver square and compass in handsome case of morocco.

The last named article will be donated to one of the three Wilmington lodges receiving the largest number of votes during the progress of the fair. On the last night of the fair the voting will be silent and until the contest is over the result cannot be arrived at.

Opera House.

Last night a fair and as usual appreciative audience welcomed Miss Paige and her company in the farce comedy, "Miss Juliet." Miss Paige is a clever little actress and handles the parts assigned her with perfect ease and grace, while her support was very good.

Pursuing their usual policy of having two nights out of the week free for ladies, the manager has decided to make to-night free for ladies. Free tickets can be obtained by purchasing one 30 cent ticket before 6 P. M. at the advance sale office.

There will be no matinee this afternoon, but to-morrow afternoon the company will present "The Little Cadet," which gave such universal satisfaction Wednesday night. All children will be presented with a gift. Prices for the matinee have been placed at 10 cents for children; adults, 20 cents.

To Erect a Handsome Residence.

Carpenters were at work yesterday tearing down the old house on North Third street, next to Mr. W. H. Sprunt's residence, and will erect in its stead a modern two-story residence of seven rooms and a kitchen. The new house is being built for Mrs. S. W. Smith, of Sanford, N. C., and will be completed by February. It is to be occupied by Mr. G. T. Flynn.

The old house that is to make way for the new one is probably seventy-five years old, and was for many years the residence of the late Sheriff Bunting.

Mrs. Smith is the mother of Messrs. Wm. L. and Jos. D. Smith, of this city, and after being here a while, she returned home yesterday.

Oyster Roast Parlor.

Mr. J. W. H. Fuchs has opened an oyster roast parlor at his place of business on Front and Orange streets, and is prepared to serve roasts promptly during the day and up to 12 o'clock every night. Mr. George R. Smith, an expert, is manager and knows his business, as a STAR representative can personally attest. The very best Myrtle Grove oysters are brought in every morning and served on a moment's notice.

Ariel Ladies Sextette.

Last night the Ariel Ladies Sextette, composed of the Smith Sisters, entertained a large assemblage at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium.

The occasion was the inauguration of the People's Popular Entertainment Course. The programme was rendered in an efficient and talented manner; so perfect, in its entirety, that it is almost impossible to discriminate as to the merits of the performers.

The Popular Course management has striven hard to give its patrons the best of attractions. The next of their Course is on Friday evening Nov. 17th—the famous Louise Brehany Concert Company, assisted by M Sauvlet, the renowned Belgian pianist, and supported by a quartette of soloists.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

MOHAMMEDAN AND CHRISTIAN.

When the gentlemen who composed the commission to negotiate a peace treaty with Spain decided to buy the Philippine islands they bought a pig in a sack, as it were, for they knew little about the islands or their people, and we know but very little yet although we are learning and are paying a pretty big price for what we learn. We do not even know the number of tribes there are in them or the number of languages spoken, or how many civilized, semi-civilized or savage people there are in them. We know more about the island of Luzon than we know about any of the others, and yet we know little or nothing about the interior of that or of the people of the interior, for there are several tribes on that island with its estimated population of 1,500,000, and some of these tribes are said to be savages. Prof. Schurman says there are sixty tribes, speaking sixty languages. Others say there are more.

And this is the assortment of divers tribes that we will have to do with and to govern when we have established our supremacy and raised our flag over them. The civilized people of the island of Luzon are Christians. We are making war upon them and shooting them down like "jack rabbits" because they declined to acknowledge allegiance to this country after having, with the assistance of American soldiers, crushed Spanish power. The inhabitants of the Sulu group are not Christians; they are Mohammedans. They, too, refused to acknowledge American supremacy, but we didn't go to shooting them down; it was thought easier and cheaper to buy them. The terms of the bargain were that the religion of the people should not be interfered with nor slavery, which also exists in the group. Some of the reasons given for this treaty are shown in the following statement of Prof. Schurman, published in a recent issue of the Washington Post:

"It seems to me, that were it not for the ignorance displayed the present hue and cry about polygamy and slavery in these islands would be absolutely criminal. In taking over the Sulu group we have acquired no right of any sort there except those bequeathed us by Spain. She was bound by her agreement with the Sultan not to interfere with the religion or customs of the islands, and it would be most unwise for us to attempt this by force when it can be ultimately accomplished by the slower methd oof civilization and education.

"The Sulu group proper contains about 100,000 inhabitants. They are all Mohammedans, as are about 150,000 of the residents of Mindanao, directly east. To attempt to interfere with the religion of these people would precipitate one of the bloodiest wars in which this country has ever been engaged. They are a different race physically and mentally from the residents of the Visayan Islands, powerful men and religious fanatics of the most pronounced type, who care nothing for death and believe that the road to Heaven can be attained by killing Christians. Polygamy is a part of their religion, and slavery, about which so much is being said just now, is a mild type of feudal bondage.

"The Sultan believes from what he has seen of Americans that they are ready to be friendly and deal honestly by him. Our soldiers and officers already travel into the interior of Jolo with perfect impunity, where Spaniards have never dared to set foot.

"It has been sugg-sted indirectly to the Sultan that he should maintain an American of good standing as a confidential adviser at his court to aid him in the work of material development for which the beautiful group of islands is ready, and which is bound to come when they are thrown in touch with the civilized word. I believe that he will take kindly to this suggestion, and the leaven of civilization introduced in this way ultimately will do the work which armed interference with immemorial religious custom never could accomplish.

"We have before us in this case the example of England in her various possessions and of the Dutch in Java, where a remarkable work of civilization and progress has been accomplished. We should take a leaf out of their book, which shows us that semi-barbarious people frequently can be led where they could not be driven.

"I have been already harshly criticised for taking this stand in regard to the Sulu islands since I returned to the United States, but it is my honest belief that what I have just stated is the truth, and that any attempt to interfere by force in the Sulu islands at this time will bring on a bloody and wholly unnecessary war."

Did the signers of the Paris treaty who represented this Government know when they bought these 250,000 Mohammedan slaveholders that they were buying polygamy and slavery, and a group of islands over which Spain had only a nominal sovereignty? That's what it seems they did, and this is why the Sulus were placated by paying an annual money consideration and agreeing not to interfere with polygamy. Prof. Schurman thinks that was a very wise thing to do, because they are "powerful men and religious fanatics of the most pronounced type, who care nothing for death and believe that the road to heaven can be attained by killing Christians." Ugly customers to tackle, sure enough. He cites the example of "England in her various possessions, and the Dutch in Java," to show that "a semi-barbarious people can frequently be led where they could not be driven." Suppose this experiment had been tried with the Christians of Zulon, might they not have been "led" easier than they have been "driven," and a good many lives and a good many millions of dollars been saved?

But Perhaps Prof. Schurman contemplates jumping on the Sulu fellows, those "powerful and fanatical" chaps, later when we get matters in better shape, and get some of the other islanders down and out of the way, for he says, in conclusion, that "any attempt to interfere by force with the Sulu islands at the present time will bring on a bloody and wholly unnecessary war." Very thoughtful, and perhaps correct. But if the same thoughtfulness had been shown before we began to "interfere" with the people of Luzon, might not "a bloody and wholly unnecessary war" have been averted? The inhabitants of Zulon are not Mohammedans or "powerful men and fanatics," who believe that the shortest route to heaven is travelled by killing Christians. They are small men and Christians themselves, and perhaps this accounts for the striking contrast between their treatment and the deferential consideration shown the Sulu Mohammedans.

As a matter of business we think that this dicker with the Sultan of the Sulus was a cute thing and a good deal cheaper than whipping those 100,000 "powerful fanatics" in, but wouldn't it have been equally cute if the fellows who control and lead the 1,500,000 people on the island of Luzon had been dealt with differently and a little more disposition evinced to have an amicable understanding with them before we went to pouring shot into them? That's the way we see it, for we do not believe that as a matter of business they will ever be worth to us the cost of the powder burned and the lives sacrificed in conquering them.

RECLAIMING SAND DUNES.

In view of the fact that our beach resorts have within the past few years been visited by violent storms, the last of which proved very destructive, swept away so many buildings and did irreparable damage to others, which may discourage building on the beaches, to a greater or less extent, the following, which we clip from the Baltimore Sun, showing the method adopted to protect the beaches and reclaim the sand dunes may be interesting:

"A paper read at a meeting of a forestry association at Los Angeles, Cal., recently reported the successful reclamation of a large area of drifting sand dune. The means adopted may be worth the attention of persons living along our Atlantic coast. The sand was sharp and clean, so barren and poor as not to sustain any sort of crop beyond a growth of six inches, even when protected from the wind. Success was first obtained by planting in furrows the roots of sea bent grass (Calamagrestis arenaria). The furrows were about three feet apart. Where the dunes were too steep for horse pits were dug and the roots were planted in them. Between November and March is the best time to plant, wet weather being preferable. It is desirable that the roots should take hold before the dry weather sets in. When the plants were blown out with the dry sand the ground was at once replanted. The next operation was to build brush fences across the direction of the prevailing wind about 100 yards apart and from 4 to 6 feet in height On the sheltered side of these fences young seedling trees were planted, about five feet apart. The trees were pines (Pinus maritima), cypress, eucalyptus, willow, elm, oak and maple. The winds blow the leaves off the poplars. The planted trees grow in the sand, barren as it is, till about 10 feet high, or till they begin to form heart wood, but after that they show signs of distress and will perish unless fertilized. For several years the California experimenter has been fertilizing his sand plantation, with the result of a vigorous growth of his trees wherever he spread loam, manure or other good rich dressing. At present the pines, cypress, eculyptus, etc., are 20 feet high and a grove of 700 acres is obtained, where formerly there was only drifting sand that moved with every gale, often to a depth of 3 feet in 24 hours.

Annoyed by the jostling crowds that hovered around him and his bride-to-be in New York the other day Admiral Dewey remarked that "This hero business is getting tiresome." A fact. And it is getting tiresome to others as well as the heroes.

TRUSTS AND THE TOBACCO PLANTER

It has been asserted and denied that the low prices of leaf tobacco are due in a great measure if not wholly to the trusts, which make their own prices and practically control the market. The effect of this has been that since cotton has advanced in price, many planters in Eastern North Carolina will reduce the acreage of tobacco, if they do not wholly abandon its culture, and go back to cotton, preferring to take their chances on that. As showing the opinion as to the effect of trusts on the market in this State we quote the following answers by Mr. Paul Jones, of Tarboro, to questions propounded by the Raleigh News and Observer, showing how the trusts affect that market:

In reply to your letter of inquiry, I have this to say:

To the warehousemen and buyers on this market I have put these questions, to which you will find the following answers:

Have the American Tobacco Company produced any effect or change upon the prices of tobacco on this market?

Answer: Yes.

Has it been to increase or decrease prices?

Answer: It has been to decrease them very considerably.

How is it done?

Answer: The trust regulates the trade, and in this way they operate successfully in fixing prices. Even now all the independent buyers are buying on speculation and are completely at sea.

In your judgment what has this decrease amounted to?

Answer: In tobacco selling for ten cents and over, they have dropped prices one half, and under ten cents at least one-third

What per cent. of the tobacco do the trusts buy on this market?

Answer: About one-fifth.

Do the trusts influence the export trade?

Answer: Yes. They are now trying to monopolize this altogether, and when they do it means utter ruin to the planters and buyers.

The warehousemen, buyers and planters here are firmly convinced that no change may ever be hoped for as long as the Republican party is in power. They inform me that all the tobacco that has been purchased for the army has been supplied by the trusts and no independent factory was allowed to compete for bids

An effort was made sometime ago, which failed, to combine all the leading tobacco factories under one management. If that had succeeded the tobacco planters of the State would have been absolutely in the power of trusts and at their mercy. There was also talk some time ago, of combining all the cotton manufactories of the South under one management. If that had been done the cotton planters would have been as much in the power of that combine as the tobacco planters would be in the power of the tobacco combines.

CULTIVATE PECANS.

Referring to an article on pecan culture which appeared in the STAR of the 29th ult., a writer in the last issue of the Clarkton Express says:

"The Wilmington STAR, in its issue of the 29th, has an article on pecan culture which is timely. It is no use to go into the pecan craze any more, or, as to that, any other sort of craze, but every farmer should plant out pecan trees by the sides of the roads passing through his premises and put in a small orchard. If not this, then plant out some around his dwelling for shade trees. They make a fairly good shade tree and the nuts they bear are delicious. They will always bring a fair price and are capital for hogs and children. Plant out pecans by all means. I have a small orchard and I cannot keep out of it on Sundays, even. I got my trees from a nursery in Georgia, but if I had to start over I would get some large fine nuts and raise them from the seed Transplanting stunts them as they have a long tap root."

The writer of this speaks from experience and gives some valuable information as to planting. He believes, and he is sensible in that, that all farmers ought to plant some trees, but that there shouldn't be any craze about it. Crazes generally play out, for the result is more often disappointing than otherwise, for people are apt to build castles in the air and put their prospective profits too high. But peacan culture is safe and it will pay whether the nuts be grown for market or for home use. There is little danger of it becoming a craze great enough to hurt.

Patents have been taken out for a new process of manufacturing tinplate, by which the plate can be manufactured in one hour, whereas it takes six days with other methods. It is claimed that it will also reduce the cost of manufacturing $10 a ton or 50 cents a box.

— Kinston Free Press: Coroner R. W. Wooten returned yesterday from LaGrange, where he went to hold an inquest over the body of Joe Miller, the negro who was shot Saturday night by Burt Best, colored. The question as to whether the shooting occurred in Lenoir or Greene country was found to have occurred within a few hundred yards of the dividing lines of the two counties, and to have been in Lenoir. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that Miller was killed by Best. We are told that this makes three persons that have met death from Best's hands. Best has skipped and there seems small probability that he will be apprehended.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from Pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of Consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1 00. No Effect Without A Cause.

This is true, yet for many ages no one could account for the mysterious and excruciating pains that, seemingly without sufficient cause, tortured the hapless sufferer, and oftentimes twisted his limbs out of all semblance to humanity.

Science, however, has at length solved this problem, and has proclaimed that rheumatism, in all its varied phases, is due to uric acid in the blood.

Hence, when one is afflicted with rheumatism he knows there is too much acid in his blood.

How does this happen. It must be the blood's purifiers, the liver, and especially the kidneys, are out of order and do not properly perform their functions.

But how can they be restored to their normal healthy state? Hundreds of thousands of grateful, and now healthy, people will endorse the answer:

Use Warner's Safe Cure, which will check an excess of acid, dissolve the acid deposit, and produce a normal and healthy condition of the kidneys and liver, and then, the cause being removed, the rheumatism will quickly disappear.

CURRENT COMMENT.

— That is a characteristic exhibition of the kind of pride always found with Spanish blood, made by the jailbirds of Santiago. They would not submit to being uniformed, as convicts. They were not too proud to commit crimes for which they were imprisoned, but too proud to wear the uniform of crime. This is the mere shadow of a mean vanity, no real pride about it.—Chattanooga Times, Dem.

— Instead of lightening the war taxes, as was expected when it was found that the revenues of the Government were likely to exceed its expenditures this year, recent Treasury decisions are in the way of increasing them. Thus it has been decided that a loan by a bank on specified securities must be taxed and stamped, and as the rate is high, 25 on each $500 after the first $1000, this will form no small addition to the income of the Government.—Philadelphia Ledger, Ind.

— The most disheartening part of the report of the Philippine Commission is the testimony given of the incapacity of the most intelligent portion of the islanders for self-goverment. It follows that a long period of protection and tutelage in the art of government must precede independence; and because of this the responsibility for the welfare of the inhabitants and for the safety of established industries and invested capital becomes at once more grave and imperative.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

The vote was very light, no election being held in three townships. Perhaps not a thousand voters out of a five thousand voting population attended the election. There seemed to be very little interest in the question. It was not agitated at all. The result was a defeat of the dispensary by a vote of about the ratio of 13 to 1.

Adams lost considerable blood before medical attention could be secured and is thought to be in a serious condition. Warrick made good his escape and has not been seen since.

Bottom of the Ocean.

The temperature at the bottom of the ocean is nearly down to freezing point and sometimes actually below it. There is a total absence of light, as far as sunlight is concerned, and there is an enormous pressure, reckoned at about a ton to the square inch in every thousand fathoms, which is 160 times greater than that of the atmosphere we live in. At 2,500 fathoms the pressure is 30 times more powerful than the steam pressure of a locomotive when drawing a train. As late as 1880 a leading zoologist explained the existence of deep sea animals at such depths by assuming that their bodies were composed of solids and liquids of great density and contained no air. This, however, is not the case with deep sea fish, which are provided with air inflated swimming bladders. If one of these fish in full chase after its prey happens to ascend beyond a certain level, its bladder becomes distended with the decreased pressure and carries it, in spite of its efforts, still higher in its course. In fact, members of this unfortunate class are liable to become victims to the unusual accident of falling upward and no doubt meet with a violent death soon after leaving their accustomed level and long before their bodies reach the surface in a distorted and unnatural state. Even ground sharks, brought from a depth of no more than 500 fathoms, expire before they gain the surface.

Danger From Quinine.

So well known and eminent an authority as Professor Koch expresses the opinion that the indiscriminate use of quinine as a prophylactic in malarial countries is attended with great danger and is in many cases the indirect cause of the pernicious "black water" fever, one of the most virulent forms of malarial diseases. The general practice among persons coming from temperate to tropical latitudes of saturating their systems with quinine taken in regular and often excessive doses is vigorously condemned by Professor Koch, because, first, it seriously weakens the action of the heart, and, second, because the system, having become inured to the drug, fails to respond to quinine treatment in case of actual sickness. The efficiency of the article having been exhausted as a preventive, it has no longer any important value as a remedy, and experience shows that a person debilitated by the immoderate use of quinine may take malarial fever and die of it like any one else. It is even asserted that the increased death rate in certain portions of west Africa, where the conditions of living have been greatly improved during the last ten years, is due largely to the increased and indiscriminate use of quinine, now obtained so much cheaper.

the end of the stick and covered entirely by the corn. Numerous outlets are provided, and the act of sweeping causes the antiseptic material to be distributed in small but sufficient quantities for the thorough deodorization and disinfection of the carpet and the room.

Feminine Idea of a Husband.

If a man were as bold and brave as his wife thinks he is, he would be shot for a desperado the first time he left his doorstep.—New York Press.

Garbage Cremation.

At a recent meeting of the German Society of Public Hygiene Meyer described the system employed in Hamburg for the cremation of garbage. It applies to the central part of the city, occupied by about half the population. The works consist of 36 furnaces. The material to be burned is delivered in sealed metallic receptacles. Combustion is promoted by forcing warm, dry air into the furnaces. This is found to be superior to the English practice of employing steam. Except for kindling purposes no adventitious fuel is required. The combustion is complete. The heat generated is turned to account in operating dynamo electric machines for illuminating and other purposes.

Putting food into a diseased stomach is like putting money into a pocket with holes. The money is lost. All its value goes for nothing. When the stomach is diseased, with the allied organs of digestion and nutrition, the food which is put into it is largely lost. The nutriment is not extracted from it. The body is weakened and the blood impoverished.

The pocket can be mended. The stomach can be cured. That sterling medicine for the stomach and blood, Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, acts with peculiar promptness and power on the organs of digestion and nutrition. It is a positive cure for almost all disorders of these organs, and cures also such diseases of the heart, blood, liver and other organs, as have their cause in a weak or diseased condition of the stomach.

There is no alcohol or other intoxicant contained in "Golden Medical Discovery."

Substitutions are imitations. Imitation money is worthless. So are imitations of Dr. Pierce's "Discovery." Get the genuine.

Mr. John L. Coughenour, of Glensavage, Somerset Co., Pa., writes: "I had been doctoring for about a year and a half, being unable to work most of the time. The doctor said I had heart disease and indigestion. My appetite was unusually poor, I was weak and nervous, and my heart kept throbbing continually, and I was short of breath. Finally I wrote to you for advice. I did not think your diagnosis was right, but I ordered six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and began its use. After using three bottles I began to improve slowly and soon went to work, and I have been working ever since."

Free. Doctor Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-bound edition, or 31 stamps for the cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A DUTCHMAN'S TRICK.

The Reason Why Bottles Are Made With Concave Bottoms.

This is not a catch, nor should you answer the question by replying flippantly, "Because they are not convex." The real reason is as deep as the bottles are the opposite.

To the Dutch we owe the extra useless tons of bottle glass which we pay for. At any rate, the thanks of the glass manufacturers and of the dealers in freight and of the makers of cases may be sincere enough, for the concave bottom of the millions of bottles always being made, transported and broken increase the cost of them by at least a tenth.

A certain Dutchman, having gone as far as he dared in the reduction of the strength and quality of the liquor he dealt in, cast about in his mind how he might succeed in making the less appear the greater. But he could not hit upon any satisfactory dodge. This disgusted him. He felt ashamed of his lack of business instinct and began seriously to meditate selling the good will of his business and retiring.

This gentleman was in the habit of importing wine from Spain. This wine came mostly in hogsheads, but now and again his correspondent would send him small parcels in the original skins in which the wine comes even to this day on muleback from the interior of Spain to the seaports.

One day Mynheer saw one of these wine skins, which he knew was only half full, lying on the floor of his warehouse seemingly quite full.

Being in his way a man of talent, he examined the skin with care before he moved it. He lifted up one side, and it at once became flabby. The skin was only half full, but it had been reposing on an inverted bowl. This had pushed up the middle of the skin and allowed the wine to press the rest of the skin down on the boards, while the visible part of the skin was correspondingly distended.

The Dutchman took the hint and had bottles made with the deceptive concave bottoms which we now know so well. The idea caught on, for at the finish only the wretched consumer had to pay, so every hand the bottles passed through before coming to the retail customer made a bit by the change.

The unorganized mass of the public realized soon enough how deceptive were the bottles that seemed as large as ever, but they had to put up with it, for in those times the stores were not thought of, and the public had much more even than nowadays to take what they could get and be thankful, while such is the conservatism of mankind that if they were offered flat bottomed champagne or claret bottles now they would probably refuse them and imagine they were being done.—San Francisco Call.

The old London banking house of Gosling & Sharpe, which in bygone days was known by the sign of the Three Squirrels, has been pulled down, and a boarding remains around the site, while new premises are being erected in which the banking business, now amalgamated with that of Barclay, Bevan & Co., will continue to be carried on and where the ancient sign, formed of three little iron squirrels, which had been displayed upon a window bar of the goldsmith's and banker's premises upon this spot for more than 300 years, will still have a place.

FRUIT AND FLOWERS

BOSTON IVY.

Spreads Rapidly, Is Uniformly Beautiful, Insects Do Not Harm It.

Boston ivy is only one of several names given to the Japan ampelopsis, A. veitchii. Rural New Yorker says: Other botanical names are A. tricuspidata and Vitis japonica, for it is nearly related to the grape. Our own ivy, Ampelopsis quinquefolia or hederacea, is best known as the Virginia creeper. How the Japan species came to be called the Boston ivy is because the Bostonians were the first to appreciate its value for covering brick and stone houses. It is probably employed more in Boston than in any other American city, though New York in its up town residential quarters is not far behind.

We feel that we are quite safe in saying that there is no other vine that will so completely change the appearance of walls, dead trees, fences, rocks or woodwork, etc., from forbidding objects to objects of rare beauty as the Boston ivy or effect the change in so short a time, for its growth is of surprising rapidity.

Our native Virginia creeper is inferior to the Boston creeper in that the leaves of the latter overlap one another like the shingles of a roof, forming a mass of rich, lustrous green leaves that help to shed the rain which would otherwise penetrate the bricks, stones or wood and cause more or less dampness. It clings with great tenacity by its footlike tendrils, so that neither wind nor storm, unless of cyclonic destructiveness, ever detaches it from the object to which it has become attached. The spread of this vine from a single root is almost incredible, covering in one case that the writer has in mind no less than 3,000 square feet.

This plant covers the entire side wall of a brick house in upper New York, where the area in which it grows as well as the sidewalk and street is entirely covered with flags and asphalt. The "opening" in which it is planted is only one foot in diameter. Whence come the moisture and food to support this breadth of leaves, stems and tendrils? Perhaps, like aerial orchids, the Boston ivy has the power of living upon the air.

Of the many merits of this vine not the least is that it rarely dies or from any cause is killed out in patches. Insects do not harm it. When growing over the front of houses, the ivy is cut out to conform to the windows, so that otherwise the house front seems a living mass of delicate, glossy, exuberant, refreshing foliage.

In the fall no other vine, tree or shrub whatever changes to more glowing contrasts of crimson, orange, yellow and green

A Beautiful Ornamented Tree.

Among the especially beautiful ornaments of our gardens the cut leaved beech holds a high place in common with its ally, the fern leaved beech. A fine specimen is the more highly valued from the variety being of rather slow growth. Few finer specimens may be seen, says Meehan's Monthly, than the one here illustrated, which is growing on the grounds of a rare lover of gardening of Wynnewood, Pa.

The Fruit Bark Beetle.

In September an enemy to be guarded against by the fruit grower is the fruit bark beetle. Professor J. B. Smith of New Jersey says this little borer is almost omnipresent, but becomes most abundant in September and will at that time try every tree that offers the least chance of sustaining it. Its hope is to find some weak or injured tree, low in vitality and in general poor condition, and into this it bores, makes its galleries and starts the tree on the road to certain death. Where entirely suitable trees are not found the beetle does the best it can and bores into healthy peaches, for these offer the best chance of giving way to it. A real healthy young tree will easily dispose of a dozen or 20 borers without difficulty, but when 50 or 100 come in there is serious danger for even a sound tree unless it is unusually vigorous.

Practically, according to Professor Smith, there are only two ways of preventing injury from this insect. The first is to have no old dying trees to breed the beetles in quantities. The second is to keep the young trees as vigorous as possible to prevent a foothold from any reasonable attack. An apple or pear tree injured by blight or by accident may live for two or three years under the attacks of these beetles and will then die, liberating thousands of specimens that will bore into whatever happens to be nearest at hand.

TRANSPLANTING HAIR.

Baldness May Yet Be Avoided or Overcome.

A Turkish physician has been experimenting successfully on the transplanting of hairs, one by one, to bald parts of the scalp. His results seem to show that there is no impossibility in the complete renewal of a lost head of hair by this means.

The physician, Dr. Menahem Hodara, tried his experiments in the case of a disease that had removed part of his patient's hair. His plan was to scarify the bare surface and to implant thereon hairs removed from other parts of the patient's head. The hairs used for the purpose were trimmed with scissors at each end. Some four weeks after implantation a certain number of the hairs were found to have taken root, and in no long time a goodly new crop was produced.

Encouraged by these results, Dr. Hodara has since applied the method in other cases of baldness following favus, and he thinks himself justified in stating that "clinically there can be no doubt as to this very curious fact—that small bundles of hair stems cut with scissors and implanted in the incisions made with the scarifier can take root and grow, forming in time long and visible hairs."

By microscopic examination he has satisfied himself that after some weeks a real new bulb forms at the lower end of the implanted hair. Dr. Hodara's results are interesting in themselves and still more in the promise which they appear to offer of further results undreamed of, or at any rate unmentioned, by the ingenious experimenter.

Why should not the same treatment be applied in cases of ordinary baldness? Many bald men would gladly submit to have their scalps plowed and afterward sown with new hairs if there was a reasonable hope of even a moderate harvest.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

MONUMENTS UNVEILED IN HOLLYWOOD CEMETERY

Another Great Confederate Day in Richmond—Memorials to President and Miss Winnie Davis.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RICHMOND, VA., November 9.—This was another great Confederate day in Richmond, the occasion being the unveiling in Hollywood cemetery, under the auspices of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, now in convention here, of the memorials in Hollywood to President Jefferson Davis and Miss Winnie Davis.

The Daughters held a brief business session this morning, during which various reports were read, and Mrs. Davis was made honorary president of the State Chapters of the Daughters. This afternoon the Daughters, in carriages, were escorted to Hollywood by an imposing procession, consisting of Confederate camps and military, Gen. Fitzhugh Lee riding at the head of the line.

A vast crowd had assembled on the hill overlooking the Davis plat in the cemetery, and immediately upon the arrival of the parade the ceremonies were opened with prayer by the Rev. James P. Smith, D. D, who was on "Stonewall" Jackson's staff, and who threw himself between his general and the line of fire while Jackson was being borne from the field wounded.

In the Davis plat an easy chair had been provided for Mrs. Davis, so that as the drapery fell she would face the statue over her daughter's tomb.

Over the grave of President Davis was a beautiful Confederate flag, the blue and red being worked in immortelles and the white in chrysanthemums. The staff rested on a base around which smilax was wound.

After the prayer, the Governor, Hon. J. Hoge Tyler, gracefully introduced Hon. B. B. Mumford, the principal orator of the occasion, who paid a beautiful tribute to Miss Winnie Davis, Mrs Davis, the President and the "Lost Cause."

Hon. Jno. H. Reagan's Speech.

The next speaker was Hon. John H. Reagan, postmaster general of the Confederate States, and the only surviving member of Mr. Davis' cabinet. He was introduced by Hon. J Taylor Ellyson. Judge Reagan spoke very briefly, his remarks being confined to a eulogy of his chief. He said in part:

"Mr. Davis possessed a combination of great qualities, rarely equalled and never surpassed. And in addition to these great qualities he possessed the most unselfish character I have ever known, and the most humane and merciful disposition, with a gentleness in domestic and social life which commanded the admiration and respect of all who knew him. And to all these he added the character of a devout Christian.

"My estimate of his character has been formed from a personal acquaintance of a good many years, and from close personal and official relations with him during the four years of the war between the States.

"While the cause of which he was the highest and truest representative failed of success, he carried to his grave a sincerity of respect, an enthusiastic devotion of the people he served and represented, unsurpassed by any ever shown to any successful hero or conqueror. And the future will show, when the clouds of passion and prejudice shall have passed away, that the cause and principles he represented were just, and based on the true principles of constitutional government, local self government and civil liberty.

"God bless his memory."

General Fitzhugh Lee.

General Fitzhugh Lee was then introduced by Mr. Ellyson, and delivered an eloquent and touching address, in which he made beautiful allusions to Mr. and Mrs Davis and Miss Winnie.

Following General Lee's speech Dr. H. M Clarkson recited an ode, "The Daughter of the Confederacy," and Jefferson Davis Hayes then drew the veil from the monuments to Mr. Davis and Miss Winnie. The former is a bronze statue of the Confederate President. The latter is a marble figure of the "Angel of Grief," the hand extending a wreath she is about to place on the grave. It is over life size and the pedestal is suitably inscribed. It was erected by the Daughters. Both works are by Zolnay.

After these ceremonies a monument to Jefferson Davis, Jr., was unveiled.

RICHMOND, November 9.—To night the United Daughters held another short session of their convention, and heard reports of State chapters. Mrs. Reed, president of the State chapter, invited the Daughters to hold their next annual convention in New York city, and the invitation was received with great applause. The convention adjourned to attend a reception at the Westmoreland Club, which was a most brilliant affair.

ADMIRAL DEWEY'S MARRIAGE.

A Simple Ceremony According to Rites of the Catholic Church.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Admiral George Dewey and Mrs. Mildred M. Hazen were quietly married at the rectory of St. Paul's Catholic Church on V street, near 15th, this city, shortly before 10 o'clock this morning. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James F. MacKin, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Jos. H. Foley, assistant pastor, and Rev. Sidney Hurlbut. The ceremony was of the simplest character, according to the rites of the Catholic church, and the only witness besides the officiating clergymen, were Mrs. Washington McLean and Mrs. Ludlow, wife of Admiral Ludlow, mother and sister respectively of the bride, and Lieutenant Caldwell, Admiral Dewey's secretary. The ceremony was performed with the ring according to the nuptial rites of the Catholic church. Including the address of Father MacKin it consumed less than five minutes.

In New York City.

NEW YORK, November 9.—Admiral and Mrs. Dewey arrived in New York to night from Washington. They were driven direct from the West 23rd street ferry to the Waldorf Astoria, where they are the guest, of Mr. Boidt, the proprietor of that hotel. The admiral and his bride did not register.

CONDITIONS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Gen. White Still Maintains His Position Against the Boers at Ladysmith.

BOERS INVESTING KIMBERLEY

Dispatches From Gen. Buller—Railway in Orange Free State Wrecked—Advices From Mafeking—A Successful Engagement.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, November 10.—The scanty and conflicting news from the seat of war and the fact that General White has not yet said a word about the alleged fighting around Ladysmith are again productive of a feeling of gloom. It may be that General White has sent news and that General Buller has thought best to keep it to himself. Indeed, this is the version that is beginning to be believed, as it is held to be impossible that the news of heavy fighting brought by Kaffirs in such circumstantial detail can be wholly groundless. If this be so, it is ominous, for there could be no ground for concealing favorable news.

It cannot be long however, before a change occurs. General Buller's forces will soon arrive at Durban, and will probably begin the advance to the relief of Ladysmith about November 15th.

Orders have been received at Woolwich and Davenport for the mobilization of a seige train, which is supposed is intended for the purpose of shelling Pretoria. The force manning it will approximate to the strength of eight batteries, and will consist of thirty-two officers and 1,104 non commissioned officers and men. Its armament will be thirty howitzers, 14 six inch guns, the train weighing over 3,000 tons. This will be the first employment of a modernized siege train by any European army and the progress of the reduction of the forts by lyddite shell fire, a preliminary to storming by infantry, will be watched with interest and curiosity by all professional soldiers.

LONDON, November 9.—The War Office has received the following dispatch from General Buller, dated Cape Town, Wednesday, November 8th, 11:50 P. M.:

"Colonel Kekewich telegraphs from Kimberley, November 5th, that all is well there and that there has been no serious attack as yet. A slight bombardment did no damage. Information from Mafeking shows that that place was safe October 27th. Colonel Plumer had a successful engagement near Fort Tuli October 26th.

"General White reports, by pigeon-post, that the wounded and some civilians from Ladysmith have been removed four miles down the railroad, by an arrangement with General Joubert, to a neutral place, to save them from the bombardment.

"Ninety nine wounded from Dundee have been sent in under a flag of truce. They are all doing well.

Boers Investing Kimberley.

ORANGE RIVER, CAPE COLONY, November 9.—The Boers investing Kimberly have been reinforced by two thousand men and have succeeded in corralling about £5,000 worth of stock belonging to Kimberly merchants which was intended for the sustenance of the town.

LONDON, November 9.—A special from Queenstown, dated Monday, November 6th, says:

"The railway within the Free State is completely wrecked. It is estimatad that it will take six months to repair the damage already done in South Africa, and the army will hardly be able to use the railway any more than in 1881."

Advices From Ladysmith.

The colonial office has received a telegram from the Governor of Natal, giving a copy of the pigeon-post message received by the premier from the commandant of volunteers. It is as follows:

"Ladysmith, Nov. 7.—I sent you, November 3d, by native messenger, a report of the engagement that day, but I am not sure if it reached you, as the messenger has not returned. Major Taunton and Sergeant Mapsone, of the Natal carbineers, were killed. Capt. Arnot, of the Border mounted rifles, was wounded. Nine troopers were wounded, all slightly, and are doing well.

"There has been nothing important since. The hospital was removed to a spot on the railway, three miles south.

All was quiet on Sunday and Monday. The enemy renewed the bombardment to-day, but no damage has been done."

RESTRICTION OF SUFFRAGE.

Negroes Petition the Georgia Legislature Not to Pass the Hardwick Bill.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, November 9.—At a meeting of representative negroes in this city to-day, a memorial was signed asking the Georgia Legislature not to pass the Hardwick bill, a measure having an educational and lineal descendant qualification, the latter known as the "Grandfather" clause, for the restriction of suffrage and the disfranchisement of a large majority of the negro voters of the State.

The bill is now before the lower house of the Assembly, and a vote will be taken in a few days. Booker Washington, principal of the negro industrial school at Tuskegee, Ala., was here to-day aiding in the campaign against the bill. Regarding it, he said:

"There seems to be a growing tendency in the direction of friendship between the races in Georgia, but I very much fear that the passage of the Hardwick bill will tend to widen the breach between the races and thus hurt the work that some of the more conservative colored people have been trying to do in bringing about proper relations between the races."

GEORGIA NEGROES

Ask Passage of a Law to Secure Their Exportation to Africa.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MACON, GA., November 9.—Congressman Bartlett and Senator Bacon received to-day a petition signed by about 100 negroes asking them to use their best efforts to secure the passage of a law whereby the negroes might be exported to Africa. They say that the conditions under which they live are not satisfactory. They see no prospects of a change and it would be better for the two races to separate.

AGUINALDO TOO WILY FOR THE AMERICANS.

He Avoided the Trap Laid for His Capture and Escaped to the Mountains North of Tarlac.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, November 9.—The War Department definitely located Aguinaldo to day as on his way to the town of Boambang, about seventy-five miles northeast of Tarlac. The recent calculations have been that the insurgent leader was at the town of Bayambang, not far from Tarlac, in which case the several forces under Generals MacArthur, Lawton, Young and Wheaton would have had him practically surrounded. There has been some doubt, however, as to the name Bayambang, and to-day this was cleared up by definite information fixing Boambang instead of Bayambang as the place of Aguinaldo's refuge. A dispatch from General Otis mentioned Boambang and at the same time reliable information came through diplomatic channels that Lieutenant Gilmore and the other American prisoners were at Bayambang, in the mountains to the northeast of Tarlac.

It is expected that the insurgent capital will now be shifted to Boambang and the efforts of the American military forces will be directed toward that point. It is in the mountainous country of the north and apparently out of the fertile and populous regions where Aguinaldo has thus far conducted his operations. It is said to be accessible from the south by only one route along a river, which is a branch of the Rio Grande. This leaves the rebel leader with little or no opportunity of communicating with the coast or getting in supplies. He also has left the railroad behind.

It is said at the War Department that the columns of General Young and General Wheaton will now push on to the north, following up the insurgent leader and his scattered bands.

The following cablegram has been received at the War Department, from General Otis:

"Manila, November 9—General Wheaton successfully landed expedition at Lingayen, west of Dagupan, afternoon of the 7th, against considerable opposition, slight casualties, the rough sea not permitting landing at San Fabian, north of Dagupan, as directed; he is moving eastward. MacArthur seized Mabalacat, on railroad, on 7th inst., Colonel Bell taking same on directed reconnoissance; slight opposition. Gen. Lawton at Cabanatuan. Troops beyond Talabera and Aliaga have met with slight opposition, the enemy being driven back in all instances; country still submerged, but water falling. Troops will move rapidly as soon as conditions permit. Hughes moved against Panay insurgents to day.

The Naval Report.

WASHINGTON, November 9.—Admiral Watson has cabled the Navy Department the following account of the part played by the navy in the landing made yesterday by General Wheaton on Lingayen Gulf, in pursuit of the plan to surround Aguinaldo's forces:

"Manila, November 9.—Tuesday afternoon Knox, with the Princeton, Bennington, Helena, Manila, Callao and Samar, bombarded the entrenched beach at San Fabian, Lingayen. Landed Wheaton's command. Moale was in charge of the boats; McNamee, Reynolds and Nelson assisting. Snow, commanding the Baltimore section, was beach master, disembarking and landing under rifle fire admirably; no casualties. Callao, Tapoan, Samar and Mustin specially commended. Samar struck several times."

The last line is supposed to state the name of the men specially commended and the boats to which they are attached.

A TRAIN WRECKED.

Accident On the Michigan Central—Three Persons Fatally Injured.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

TOLEDO, OHIO, November 9.—The Michigan Central train No. 310, from Toledo to Detroit, was derailed by the spreading of rails between Alexys and Vienna, Mich., about 2 o'clock to-night. Three were fatally injured. They are: John McKay, Indianapolis, rib broken and cut about face and head by glass; John O'Neill, Detroit, cut about head and arms; William Hamilton, engineer, bruised and probably internally injured.

Ten were seriously injured and between fifteen and twenty others were bruised and shaken up.

The accident was the result of a deliberate piece of work by unknown train wreckers, and happened at a point just beyond a short trestle. Two freight trains had passed over the road in safety a short time before.

WARM WIRELETS.

Gus Ruhlin yesterday posted $1,000 for a fight with James Jeffries.

The State health officer at Key West yesterday reported two new cases of yellow fever there.

Kid McCoy knocked out Jack McDonough, of St. Paul, in the fourth round at the Hawthorne Club, Buffalo, N. Y., last night.

According to the advices of the Marine Hospital Service there were sixteen new cases of yellow fever in Miami, Fla., yesterday and Tuesday.

The track of the Pinesapolis railroad was completed into Tifton, Ga., yesterday and connection was made with the Brunswick and Western. The road runs from Moultrie, Ga., to Tifton.

Admiral Schley received his final orders from the Navy Department to hoist his flag on the Chicago at New York on the 17th instant, assuming command of the South Atlantic station.

Sherman Copeland was hanged at Orlando, Fla., yesterday for the murder of Mary Cook, a young colored woman, in February, 1898. He was in love with the girl and murdered her through jealousy.

Almost the entire business portion of Columbia, La., was destroyed by fire yesterday. The merchants had the largest stocks they have had for years, in anticipation of good fall trade. The loss is estimated at $76,000; insurance $36,000.

Everything is in readiness for the hanging to-day at Greenville, N. C., of Elijah Joyner, the Dongola murderer. The county commissioners ordered that the execution be public, and the indications are that the town will be thronged with people.

Senator Thos. C. Platt says: "The splendid Republican victories all along the line are a strong endorsement of President McKinley's administration. They indicate that President McKinley will be the choice of the people for a second term."

DEMOCRATS STILL CLAIM KENTUCKY.

The Legislature Will Probably Have to Decide the Contest for Governor.

DEMOCRATS WILL CONTROL.

Returns From Democratic Sources Show a Plurality of 2,000 for Goebel—Republicans Openly Charged With Frauds in Eleventh District.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LOUISVILLE, KY., November 8.—A confusion of claims and counter claims, to quiet which the official count, or perhaps a contest before the Legislature, will be necessary, is all that is left of Tuesday's election. Above it all vehement cries of fraud, committed or contemplated, are heard. Each claims the election of its ticket by a plurality of about 4,000 and presents figures to back up the claim. These figures in some counties vary widely, and it is impossible to tell which side, if either, has accurate returns.

Chairman Long, of the Republican campaign committee, when asked for an estimate of the vote on the gubernatorial race, said:

"I have no estimate to give, but I can furnish the actual figures. On the face of the returns Taylor's plurality is 4,136. All of the precincts have been heard from. Twelve counties are not official, including the returns from Kenton and Breathitt."

General Taylor said he was sure of his election by a majority that will not be less than 4,000. General Taylor said that official and semi official returns from nearly every precinct in the State showed that he had been elected.

Chairman Young, of the Democratic State Central Committee, charges the Republicans with attempting to perpetrate fraud in the mountain districts, where the heavy Republican vote lies. Young says the official count by county returning boards will give Goebel over 4,000. He also says all minor candidates on the State ticket win, though by less pluralities than Goebel.

Returns from Democratic sources show a plurality on the face of the returns of about 2,000 for Goebel. Mr Goebel and Senator Blackburn, in interviews at Frankfort to day, openly charged the Republicans with fraud in the eleventh district, from which the returns are coming in very slowly.

The indications point more strongly than ever to a contest before the Legislature which, there is no reasonable doubt, will be controlled by the Democrats. Whether or not the members belonging to that party will stand together on questions affecting a contest cannot now be foretold. The county boards of canvassers, which meets to morrow, simply count and tabulate the returns. The State board of election commissioners then reviews their work and decides all questions affecting contested ballots.

There is no appeal from the findings of the State board of election commissioners, except in the case of Governor and Lieutenant Governor. In case of a contest for these offices the matter goes to the Legislature. The three members of the board of election commissioners, which will finally pass upon the returns, were chosen under the terms of the Goebel law by the Legislature which enacted that measure. All are said to be friendly to Goebel and all are Democrats. The law provides for a meeting of these commissioners on the fourth Monday after the election.

A large mass meeting of the followers of the Honest Election League, the anti Goebel organization of the city, was held at Music Hall to-night. A number of vigorous speeches touching upon what was styled "the purpose of the Goebel people to secure the seating of their candidates without regard to law or right," were made.

A committee of three was appointed to witness the count of the ballots by the county board of canvassers and it was decided to take legal measures to prevent what the leaguers considered to be their rights.

BARBOURSVILLE, KY., November 9.—The Democrats threaten to throw out the vote of Knox county on account of various alleged frauds. The town will be full of Republicans to morrow, who say they intend to have their rights.

N. C. SUPREME COURT.

Rules Issued of Interest to All Intending Applicants for License to Practice Law in North Carolina.

[Special Star Telegram.]

RALEIGH, N. C., November 9.—The Supreme Court has issued the following, which will interest all intending applicants for license to practice law in North Carolina:

"Amendment to Rule 2, adopted on November 7th, 1899—Rule 2 shall read as follows: Requirements and course of study.—Each applicant must have attained the age of 21 years, and must have studied Ewell's Essentials, three volumes; Clark on Corporations; Schuyler on Executors; Bisham's Equity; Clark's Code of Civil Procedure; Volume 1, Code of North Carolina; Constitution of North Carolina; Constitution of the United States. Creasy's English Constitution. Each applicant must have read law for twelve months at least, and shall file with the clerk a certificate of good moral character, signed by two members of the bar, who are practicing attorneys of this court." Note—Examinations for license to practice law are held on the first Monday in February and the last Monday in September of each year. The examinations are in writing. Applicants must deposit with the Clerk of the Supreme Court before they are examined, the sum of $22 00; twenty dollars of which is the tax due the State, and two dollars for the printers who prepare the parchment upon which the certificate of admission to the bar is made. The money will be refunded upon failure to obtain license. All applicants, including attorneys from other States, are required to undergo the written examination.

THE ELECTION IN OHIO.

Democrats Claim That Patrick Has Been Elected Lieutenant Governor.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 9.—A flurry was created in political circles to-day by the claims of the Democratic State Committee that Patrick, Democrat, had been elected lieutenant governor, over Caldwell, Republican. The returns showed that Caldwell had been cut heavily as the result of the fight made against him by the Anti saloon League, but the Republican committee had not given the matter any serious consideration. To day however, county chairmen were asked for the vote on lieutenant governor. To night returns had been received from seventy counties which gave Caldwell a plurality of 8,278. The remaining eighteen counties gave Nash a plurality of 12,166 and as they are all strongly Republican, Chairman Dick claims the election of Caldwell with the greatest confidence. It is claimed Caldwell's plurality over Patrick will not be less than 5,000. Revised figures on the head of the ticket show that Nash's plurality is 5,512.

Vice President Hobart was a little brighter yesterday than he has been since the beginning of his illness. He took some solid nourishment and was in good spirits. He secured much natural sleep.

A cable message was received yesterday in New York saying that Alfred Harmsworth, editor and proprietor of the London Daily Mail, intended to have a challenger prepared to race here for the America's cup next Summer.
